FIRE

In the fire safety business, detail is everything. TotalMobile helps you make sure that nothing is overlooked.

TOTALMOBILE - Introduction

TotalMobile is a mobile working system that saves you time, money, gas and paperwork.

It's designed for any business or organization with people who spend some or all of their time on the road.

Using the appropriate devices they can:

- Schedule appointments and report when they have been kept
- Capture images to show that a job has been done
- Order new supplies
- Fill out official paperwork and file it without returning to headquarters
- Issue invoices when the job's done.

But that's only a tiny snapshot of TotalMobile's capabilities. In a nutshell, it can revolutionize the way you work, increasing profits and revenue and improving efficiency.

It allows inspectors and other fire department staff to report in real time on the safety status of a building, providing accurate, timely information straight to your back office systems. As anyone in the business knows, that can be a lifesaver.

If there are potential risks to firefighters, their nature and location are recorded instantly. No waiting for paperwork to be completed. The system automatically alerts the user to scheduled visits. And when he or she arrives, the device is already populated with the required data.

It allows you to design your own forms for reporting, or to install statutory ones. It allows image capture. It will even provide a news feed to any web site you choose in case of urgent safety warnings.

In all of this, there's no need to return to the office. That saves you time, gas, and wear and tear on vehicles, not to mention helping you to do your best for the environment.
